Toolkit: Supporting Transitions of Care from Institutions

This toolkit contains three fact sheets that highlight best practices for preparing for and facilitating smooth transitions of care across three distinct settings:

- from the carceral setting,
- after an inpatient psychiatric stay,
- and street medicine support during transitions after a hospitalization.

Each resource provides an overview of the unique considerations relevant to that transitional setting and population, highlights opportunities and best practices to optimize support during the transitional period, including addressing housing instability and homelessness, and offers community-based examples of successful program models. These resources showcase the investments communities can make to improve transitions of care within their communities and, at the same time, highlight core philosophical approaches they can embrace to support individuals during transitions in the absence of fully formed programs.

Making It Work: The Role of Employment in Housing Stability

July 30, 2:00-3:00pm ET (11:00am-12:00pm PT)

Many Veterans with Serious Mental Illness (SMI) or Substance Use Disorder (SUD) want to work, but employment is often left out of the conversation about housing stability. This webinar makes the case for putting work at the center. Speakers will discuss the wide-ranging benefits of employment and share effective, practical strategies drawn from their work with Veterans, so providers in housing, behavioral health, and employment services can better support the Veterans they serve.

This webinar will be recorded. Certificates of participation will be provided to those who complete a post-event evaluation, but no CEUs are included in this event.

Strengthening Partnerships Between Homeless Services and Crisis Teams

August 18, 2:00-3:30pm ET (11:00am-12:30pm PT)

People who are homeless experience behavioral health crises at higher rates than the general population, and without timely intervention, those crises can escalate into emergencies. Strong partnerships between providers of homeless services and behavioral health crisis teams help ensure that individuals receive timely, person-centered care through coordinated responses. This webinar will explore practical strategies for building and strengthening these partnerships before, during, and after a crisis. Speakers will share lessons learned about building trust, clarifying roles and responsibilities, overcoming common challenges, and sustaining partnerships over time.

This webinar will be recorded. Certificates of participation will be provided to those who complete a post-event evaluation, but no CEUs are included in this event.
